

A detailed architectural elevation drawing of a long, multi-story building. The structure features a series of gabled roof sections, likely for a covered walkway or entrance. The facade is composed of multiple levels of windows and structural elements, with a central entrance area that is slightly recessed. The drawing is a black and white line drawing, showing the building's form and structure in detail.